

Chinmaya Maruti Vanaprastha Program

Event Participation Waiver and Hold Harmless Agreement

I wish to participate in one or more sessions of the Vanaprastha Program at Chinmaya Maruti, located in Andover, Massachusetts. This is a standing waiver: by signing it, I agree that it applies to my participation in all current and future sessions of this program, unless I revoke it in writing.

I understand that these sessions include activities such as financial wellness discussions, physical wellness sessions and discussions, identity theft and fraud protection information, and readings of scripture and holy documents.

I understand that:

- Participation may involve risks, including but not limited to physical injury (such as falls), emotional discomfort, or misunderstanding of information provided.
- All information provided is general in nature and not specific advice for my personal situation; I agree to consult my own professionals before acting on any information received.
- I may be exposed to topics or discussions that I may find sensitive or offensive.
- Financial wellness and identity theft/fraud protection content presented at this event is educational and general in nature only. It does not constitute licensed financial, investment, tax, or legal advice, and presenters may not be licensed financial professionals; I should consult my own qualified advisor before making any financial decisions.

Health and Physical Readiness

I confirm that I am physically able to participate in the activities offered, and that I have disclosed to event organizers any medical condition, mobility limitation, or health concern that could affect my safe participation. If any activity involves physical exertion, I understand I may wish to consult my physician before participating, and that it is my responsibility to do so.
